

Documents Stack

Documents are the most common

The Documents stack contains documents, images, audio, video, and other content that is not part of your project's main content.

Documents are the most common type of content in your project. They include all content that is not part of your project's main content, such as images, audio, and video.

The Documents stack is the most common type of content in your project. It includes all content that is not part of your project's main content, such as images, audio, and video. The Documents stack is the most common type of content in your project.

Documents

Documents

Documents

Documents are the most common
type of content in your project. They
include all content that is not part of
your project's main content, such as
images, audio, and video.

The Documents stack is the most common
type of content in your project. It
includes all content that is not part of
your project's main content, such as
images, audio, and video. The Documents
stack is the most common type of content
in your project.

The Documents stack is the most common
type of content in your project. It
includes all content that is not part of
your project's main content, such as
images, audio, and video.